Tanks by Thousands Clash in Epic Battle

Artist Grissinger's sketch portrays the clash of thousands of French and German tanks near Liege, Belgium, the first time in history the steel monsters had met on such a scale. French tanks are shown deploying to both sides to smash the head-on rush of the German machines. Allied military authorities claimed the close-range fighting resulted in victory for the French, with derelict German tanks littering the field of action when the battle ceased. The same quarters said the engagement proved the theory long held by the French... that their tanks are superior to the Germans' weight for weight, and that French tactics are far more effective. Reports from the scene said the French tanks manoeuvred with the ease of cavalry, with immediate attack, rapidity of fire the chief factors in Allied "victory."

British Nab Enemy Aliens

Long lines of Great Britain's enemy aliens pass through rows of British soldiers with bayoneted rifles after Great Britain—fearful of a "fifth column" threat—swept 3,000 Germans and Austrians into "protective custody." Many of these men have fled Nazi rule. Cablephoto from London. (Acme).

Captured Nazis in London

These Nazi soldiers, some of them wounded, arrived in London the way the British hope all Germans who reach England will arrive—by capture. British-censored caption states prisoners were captured on undisclosed front, are in London awaiting internment. Note that identification marks on guard's arm and prisoner's shirt have been painted out. Cablephoto.

30 Nazi Planes Bagged By R.A.F.

LONDON (CP)—The Air Ministry tonight announced 30 German aircraft were destroyed during the day and that successful attacks were made on oil refineries in northwest Germany last night.

A statement said Royal Air Force bombers made a direct hit on a railway bridge at Roux, south of Brussels.

Two British aircraft failed to return from bombing raids. The airbase at Vaernes, north of Trondheim in Norway, also was said to have been successfully attacked last night and seven fires started.

The statement said that in addition to the two bombers lost, 14 British fighters are missing.

In bomb raids south of Brussels the R.A.F. hammered enemy communication lines and railway stations and bridges.

The Air Ministry said "damage was done to rolling stock and the permanent way" and that "troop and tank concentrations were attacked in the Aisne sector."

"Near Sedan a lorry park was set on fire," the statement added.

The bombers encountered intense anti-aircraft fire. In Vaernes, the Air Ministry said, "a large number of enemy aircraft standing out in the air-drome were repeatedly bombed and machine-gunned by relays of Hudson aircraft. Much damage is believed to have been done."

Premier Scores Hanson's Stand

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King started his review of the war situation at 5:25 p.m. (1:25 p.m., P.S.T.) today in the Commons, following the Conservative leader, Hon. R. B. Hanson, in the debate on the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne.

The Prime Minister recalled how Conservative Leader Hanson had offered every possible co-operation last Friday, and so had hoped today he himself might be wholly congratulatory to the leader of the opposition and his associates for their offer of full co-operation.

"I had hoped his remarks would be not so largely a return to the battles fought before the last general election," he said.

(In his speech Mr. Hanson had questioned whether the people of Canada today would vote as they did in the general election of March 26. He wondered if the Prime Minister realized his back was to the wall, that the people had not now the confidence in him they had had on March 26 because of the government's inertia and complacency.

"Am I right in assuming that very little was intended to be done?" Mr. Hanson demanded. He believed that up to the great German push in the last few days, the government intended its contribution to be one of "limited liability," but there were grave dangers in what seemed to be a middle of the road attitude.

(He charged the national defence council had had plans ready for mobilization of four divisions, but the Prime Minister had canceled such plans.)

THIRD DIVISION NOW SUGGESTED

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King is expected to announce an intensification of Canada's war effort all long the line before he reaches the end of his speech in the House of Commons this evening, and the formation of a third division in the Canadian Active Service forces looms as a strong possibility for the immediate future.

In the naval, military, air and supply spheres action to speed the application of Canada's manpower and resources of the task of winning the war is afoot.

The latest war developments emphasize the need for land forces as well as air forces. The 1st Canadian Division is ready for a shift to France and a third division would be raised to replace the second when the latter is sent to England.

The Prime Minister may announce this step, in addition to outlining progress in air training, in the development of a defensive naval force and in the acquisition of munitions and supplies.

Nazis Push West Of St. Quentin

PARIS (CP-Havas)—French military sources tonight announced loss of Peronne, on the Somme River about 18 miles northwest of St. Quentin.

It was not immediately certain whether the town had been seized only by German motorized advance units or had been occupied.

La Fere, south and slightly east of St. Quentin, remains in French hands, as does Laon, a few miles Southeast of La Fere, the military spokesman said.

Fresh German attacks at Montmedy, northwesternmost point of the Maginot Line proper, were repulsed by the French, the communiqué said.

"On May 20 the German push continued very intense in the region north and west of St. Quentin," it said.

"Fresh enemy attacks were repulsed in the Montmedy region. The great activity of our aviation continued through the day."

"Numerous reconnaissance flights paved the way for the engagement of bomber formations against enemy armored elements."

"Heavy bombs were dropped on (enemy) columns, delaying their progress and inflicting severe losses on them."

BITTER FIGHTING

Earlier today a war ministry spokesman had said the Germans were in parts of St. Quentin, but added that see-saw fighting left the fate of the city—80 miles northeast of Paris—in doubt.

The situation there was confused, the spokesman said, with charges and counter-charges between French and German columns of tanks.

"Fighting was particularly heavy in the western suburbs of St. Quentin yesterday," he added.

Allied Tanks Thrown Into Action

The spokesman reported other German columns were attacking heavily east of Cambrai, which is 25 miles north of St. Quentin.

The full weight of Allied mechanized forces were thrown against the German armored divisions along a 40-mile line between the Sambre and the Oise just east of St. Quentin.

This became the main sector of the fluctuating battlefront yesterday when it became apparent that the western thrust of the Nazi army toward the Channel ports represents the main direction of the German attack, a military spokesman said.

Action along other sectors was little less intense, but was regarded by French military quarters as secondary. At the Aisne near Rethel some German units succeeded in crossing the river, but were thrown back with heavy losses in casualties and prisoners taken.

Further east, the Germans launched their largest mass attack so far against the fortifications of the Maginot Line proper. The spear of the attack was near Montmedy, northwestern terminus of the main fortifications. The general staff spokesman this morning said this attack had been repulsed at all but one point, with heavy losses suffered by the enemy. The Germans still held one small advance casemate.

Troops Battle Before Maginot Line

But the central state of this vast theatre of war was along the west bank of the canal linking the Oise to the Sambre, running northwest to southeast past St. Quentin into the Oise Valley.

Here thousands of steel monsters were in action in the most gigantic clash of modern cavalry-on-wheels the war has yet produced. The Germans were believed to have shoved in four to five armed divisions—a full army corps. Against them the Allies have moved their full strength in mechanized forces operating in this sector.

The German forces engaged along this battlefront are the same that have been advancing for eight days under continuous Allied aerial bombardment and along twisted and bomb-marked roads. They are moving west, which is the direction now of all the main German attacks. All other actions are diversions to aid the flanks of this general westerly movement.

For the past two days British and French mechanized divisions have been moving up and are now engaged with their full weight. The resulting battle, still in progress, takes on a character absolutely new in modern war.

fare. There can be no question of a continuous front maintained by these huge mobile forts. They are functioning more like the heavy cavalry of former times.

They are flanked by detachments of mobile machine guns and motorcyclists who can be compared to the light cavalry and Hussars of the now-dimmed past. Their task is to drive forward as far and as fast as possible and "to do damage" to the enemy's flanks.

To grasp the character and scope of these operations, one has to divest himself of the conception of a battlefront which stems from the Great War of 1914-18. That conception has been totally outmoded by the circumstances of modern war in 1940, characterized mainly by the operation of land of forts in motion at an average of 30 miles an hour and of huge bombing planes in the air at enormous speeds.

TAKE GREAT TOLL

The attack on the Maginot Line at Montmedy was preceded by extremely powerful artillery preparation. Then dense masses of infantry attempted to storm the forts themselves. The attacking troops were brought under the direct fire of the forts and suffered enormous losses without gaining a single advantage, except occupation of one of the small advance casemates used only by vanguard troops.

Along the rest of the Maginot Line, from Montmedy to the Swiss frontier, there was nothing to report.

In the north, the Allied strategic withdrawal was proceeding on schedule. The British threw off a number of German attacks on their rear guard as the main Anglo-Belgian forces continued their movement to join the principal French army.

NAZI CLAIM

BERLIN (CP)—The German high command claimed tonight that Laon, 75 miles northwest of Paris, had been taken by German troops.

(In Paris, military sources said Laon still was in French hands.) "In the advance from Laon toward the southwest the Oise-Aisne canal was reached," said the communiqué.

(There was no confirmation in Paris of the latter claim.)

Counter-offensive Expected

Weygand Forms Allies For Pincers Move on Nazis

BASEL, Switzerland (AP)—Gen. Maxime Weygand, the new Allied commander, apparently is shaping a powerful pincers counter-offensive from the Valenciennes and Rethel areas, it was reported here today.

Reports reaching Switzerland indicate a strong British-Belgian force, supported by French motorized units, is massing in the Valenciennes region and still more powerful French concentrations are assembling at Rheims and Rethel, behind the Aisne River.

Valenciennes is just across the Belgian frontier in France, along the northern flank of the Allies.

western front. Rethel is on the south side of the German "bulge" into northern France.

Gen. Weygand, who succeeded Gen. Gamelin yesterday as the Allied commander-in-chief, is said to envisage a counter-thrust from the two sides aimed at sewing up the German pocket, which has reached a point about 80 miles northeast of Paris.

Such a manoeuvre, if successful, could re-establish the French line along the Ardennes through Mons to Ghent.

Heavy French concentrations south of Rethel were reported to include large tanks and armored car divisions and to be ready to move, despite constant Nazi bombing raids from airports behind the Rhine.

Foreign military observers here reported the German westward drive was confined to such a narrow point between Saint Quentin and Le Cateau, about 30 miles to the northeast, as almost to invite an Allied counter-offensive from the south, east and northwest.

Pressure on Switzerland was relieved, meanwhile, as both Germany and the Allies pulled more and more divisions and equipment from frontier zones into the western front.

Nevertheless, the Swiss remained on a wartime basis of full mobilization, with no troops relieved or dismissed.

French Again Warned Of Nazi Propaganda

PARIS (CP-Havas)—Premier Raynaud's office today issued a special communiqué warning the population to be on guard against "German manoeuvres, which by the propagation of false reports attempt to provoke disorganization of the industrial centres of the country, which are threatened by no danger."

The communiqué warned that if need be the government will take severe measures against any individual moves relating to premature evacuation of towns and cities.

Church Damaged

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vandals smashed 10 windows in the German Lutheran Church here at the week-end, according to a report by Rev. Albert Schorman to city police. It was the third church with a congregation of German extraction to be damaged in less than two weeks.

Aliens Lose Guns

LONDON (CP)—Great Britain today deprived all aliens of the right to possess firearms—a further precaution against any "fifth column" of German sympathizers behind the home front.

May 26 Prayer Day For All Canada

OTTAWA (CP)—Announcement of the participation of their churches in National Prayer Day, May 26, has come from Archbishop Derwyn T. Owen, Primate of the Church of England in Canada; Rt. Rev. Dr. John W. Woodside, Moderator of the United Church of Canada, and Rev. Dr. Stuart C. Parker, Moderator of the Presbyterian Church.

The federal government is expected to issue a proclamation immediately setting apart next Sunday.

Iron Lung Baby

CHICAGO (AP)—Felix Snite Jr., the famed "holler kid," infantile paralysis victim, announced today that he and his wife, the former Theres Larkin of Dayton, O., are expecting a child in September.

Sweden Refuses Passage to Nazis Bound For Narvik

STOCKHOLM, (AP)—Usually well-informed circles declared themselves convinced today Sweden had made plain to Germany that she could not permit transit of Nazi troops and supplies across this nation to help lift the Allied siege against German-held Narvik, Norwegian ore port.

Authoritative quarters, however, steadfastly denied rumors that normal demands for transit facilities had been received.

Uneasiness regarding Germany's intentions increased today following first publication here of "Germany's warning to Sweden."

The conservative newspaper Vya Dagligt Allehanda reprinted an article from the Berliner Boersen Zeitung which, like the entire German press, gave Sweden "friendly" advice to strengthen its defenses against a possible British attack on the Kiruna iron mines.

Germany has repeatedly asked whether Sweden would defend itself against a British attack and the Swedes, faithful to their policy of neutrality, have always answered yes.

OTHER BLOWS RECALLED
Nevertheless, Germany's "friendly" advice, designed to arouse anti-British feelings, causes misgivings to Sweden who remember recent instances of "German protection for the neutrality of small states."

"All precautionary and defensive steps which we have taken," a Swedish spokesman said, "are directed against anyone who would violate our neutrality."

It is significant these steps are political as well as military, and that a bill now before Parliament would authorize the government to curb vigorously all subversive activity.

The Allied and Norwegian forces were reported steadily beating down stubborn resistance of the Narvik Nazis. The Swedish press said some small German detachments had come to the aid of the beleaguered force by perilous mountain routes through northern Norway, but this help was regarded as insufficient.

The situation resulting from the swift Nazi advance is obscure. Censorship forbids mention of the whereabouts of the new line, but it is far stronger than any on which the British forces have stood thus far.

The British left flank, which strategically withdrew after badly mauling the Germans at Louvain and at Wavre, is now in a better position.

Battling stubbornly, it checked half a dozen German attempts at a break through and appears adequate to handle any large-scale attack in that sector.

A German mechanized column yesterday was smashed and destroyed by the combined fire of anti-tank guns and French 75s hurriedly rushed into action.

The German infantry met its match at Louvain against the courage and splendid discipline of the Guards and a rugged Irish regiment.

No one can say where or when the Allied high command intends to counter-attack. The most likely point might be to the north, where the Germans pouring through Brussels are vulnerable to a flanking movement and air attack.

British Premier Speaks

'Full Confidence In Armies'—Churchill

By the Associated Press
Prime Minister Winston Churchill in his Sunday broadcast over all radio networks in Canada and United States, said that German and Allied forces were fighting behind each other's lines on the Western Front.

Thus he described both sides as in "an extremely dangerous position," but predicted "stabilization" of the front "which will enable the qualities of the French and British soldiers to be matched squarely against those of their adversaries."

In a 10-minute radio address, Mr. Churchill declared "mastery can only be regained by a furious and unrelenting assault."

"It would be foolish to disguise the gravity of the hour," he said, predicting the war would turn to the British Isles after this battle in France abates its force.

STILL CONFIDENT
"For myself," he said, "I have invincible confidence in the French army and its leaders. Only a very small part of that splendid army has yet been heavily engaged."

"There is good evidence to show that practically the whole of the specialized and mechanized forces of the enemy have already been thrown into the balance."

Claiming destruction of "three or four" German planes to every one Allied plane lost, Mr. Churchill said "the relative balance of the British and German air forces is now considerably more favorable to us than at the beginning of the battle."

R.A.F. TAKES TOLL
He declared British planes were "striking mightily" at the source of Germany's mechanized power and had inflicted "serious damage" upon that nation's valuable oil refineries.

Making his first address to the nation as Prime Minister, the former First Lord of the Admiralty, speaking quietly and deliberately, said:

"We must not allow ourselves to be intimidated by these (German) armed vehicles before our lines."

There is "a serious need for" the situation resulting from the swift Nazi advance is obscure.

Censorship forbids mention of the whereabouts of the new line, but it is far stronger than any on which the British forces have stood thus far.

The British left flank, which strategically withdrew after badly mauling the Germans at Louvain and at Wavre, is now in a better position.

vital munitions," he said, predicting that after the current war fare in France "there will be a battle in these islands."

He mentioned that his address came "in a solemn hour for the life of our country, of our own power, of our Allies, and, above all, the cause of freedom."

NEW COMBINATION
"The Germans by remarkable combination of their bombing and heavily armored tanks have broken through the French defence north of the Maginot Line," he said, "and strong columns of their armored vehicles are ranging the open country and for the first day or two met without defenders."

"But a sudden transformation of the scene might come into being... But it would be foolish to assume that a well-equipped mechanized force such as ours could be overcome in a few weeks by such a swoop."

In his warning against "intimidation" by German armored vehicles "in unexpected places behind our lines," Mr. Churchill said:

"If they are behind our front, the French are also at many points fighting actively behind theirs. Both sides are therefore in extremely dangerous position."

SUDDEN CHANGE POSSIBLE
"If the French army and our army are well handled, as I believe they will be; if the French retain that genius for recovery and counter-attack for which they have so long been famous; and if the British army shows the dogged endurance and solid fighting power of which there have been so many examples in the past, then a sudden transformation of the scene might spring into being."

"It would be foolish, however, to disguise the gravity of the hour. It would be still more foolish to lose heart and courage, or to suppose that well-trained, well-equipped armies numbering three or four millions of men can be overcome in the space of a few weeks or even months by a scoop or a raid of mechanized vehicles, however formidable."

Mr. Churchill said that "only a small part" of France had been invaded.

Belgian Government Now in French Town

By GEORGES LE LORRAIN
STE. ADRESSE, France (CP-Havas)—The Belgian Royal Family today was expected at this new seat of the Belgian government, which installed itself here yesterday, following the precedent set in the First Great War.

Having moved from Brussels to Ostend last Thursday, the government decided to shift again to this French town outside Le Havre after German planes had bombed Ostend Thursday and Friday nights and Saturday morning.

More than 100,000 refugees flooded out of Ostend after the first bombing. Immediately thereafter the city, normally a pleasant holiday seaside resort, took on a warlike aspect. The night black-out was absolute and traffic was barred from the streets after 7 p.m.

EVACUATIONS
The ministerial departments, though co-operating closely with the military command in their operations, were chiefly concerned with improvising a system of evacuation of civilians from districts where military defenses were being organized. The ministers were also busy arranging the creation of a Belgian defence force in France.

The government's work was hampered by constant air raid alarms as German planes arrived to bomb the Ostend port and railway stations. The Germans bombed "few other objectives" in that area. Elsewhere in the country, however, especially near Brussels, they bombed and machine gunned roads jammed with refugees without compunction, killing many women and children.

It was believed a few isolated squadrons of German planes were responsible for these actions, which seemed to have no military objective.

On Friday it was evident the Allied armies must make a considerable withdrawal from north of Antwerp and also from the line through Malines, Louvain and Wavre. German divisions freed by the surrender of the Dutch army increased the pressure on Allied troops in these sectors, and at the same time the Meuse line to the south was seriously threatened.

Dutch troops flooded into Ostend. The Belgian government hastened to transport these young men away from territory threatened with German occupation. Most of them were concentrated at Courtrai, Bruges and Roulers and afterward left for France on foot or on bicycles.

PASS TROOPS
On their way they passed columns of Allied troops moving forward to cover their withdrawal with a minimum of loss.

The news that Brussels had been occupied reached Ostend Friday afternoon together with the report that Antwerp would be taken shortly. The government functionaries rapidly prepared to evacuate Ostend by train and automobile. The French ambassador, Paul Bargeton, and the military attaché, General Laurent, obtained a temporary suspension of the French order banning civilian traffic across the border.

When night fell on Ostend Friday the city was practically deserted. The Ostend people, fearing bombardment, headed for the French frontier on foot or by bicycle, along secondary roads, leaving the highway to the military convoys.

Nazi Occupy Mo, Refugees Report
LONDON (CP)—The Exchange Telegraph Company, in a dispatch from Göteborg, Sweden, today said refugees from Norway reported the German army had occupied Mo and the district halfway between Trondheim and the Nazi-held Arctic ore port of Narvik last Saturday.

They said the Germans shelled the town and at the same time dropped parachute troops, and that grenades were used in hand-to-hand fighting before a British-Norwegian force was driven out. The refugees said 4,000 Germans occupied Mo, part of which was in flames.

Mo is on the coast, some 200 miles north of Trondheim and about 175 miles south of Narvik.

Hurt in Auto Crash
PORT ALBERT (CP)—Mrs. B. Parker of Kleecoot, B.C., and her two sons, Ronald and Gary, are in West Coast Hospital here today recovering from superficial injuries and shock suffered when their auto crashed into a bridge approach here Saturday night.

No Sudden Move By Italy Indicated By Ciano Speech

ROME (AP)—Foreign Minister Galeazzo Ciano is arranging to go to Albania-Italy's Balkan outpost—tomorrow as a sequel to his advice to Italians yesterday to be ready for a call from Premier Mussolini to gain the nation's aspirations.

Ciano, it was said, intends to inspect public works projects now under way in Albania, which Italy occupied starting April 7, 1939, but his trip is bound to be watched closely because of Italy's military foothold there in the Balkan peninsula between Yugoslavia and Greece.

Italian schools were ordered to close May 31, a fortnight earlier than had been intended, but still there were no definite signs of imminent Italian entry into the war.

Ciano, who negotiated the German military alliance a year ago, declared yesterday that Italy "intends to keep faith in her engagements."

Making his first public address in five months, in celebration of the alliance's first anniversary, the foreign minister promised a crowd at Milan that "Rome must say and will say its word" in European events. But he told them decision as to what the war will be must come from Premier Mussolini.

DUCE STUDIES POSITION
In political circles the foreign minister's words were taken as evidence Italy is contemplating no abrupt move. Instead, they believed, Mussolini still is studying the European situation, especially military developments on the western front, to determine how best he can serve Italy's interests.

There were rumors he might speak tonight from his balcony in the Palazzo Venezia.

Substitution of Charles Roux for Alexis Leger as under-secretary at the French foreign office is regarded as forging better relations with Italy.

Roux is considered friendly to Italy. At the same time his long service as French ambassador to the Vatican placed him on excellent terms with Pope Pius.

FALSE CLAIMS SEEN IN NAZI REPORTS
BERLIN (CP-Havas)—The German high command in its forenoon communiqué today said: "In Belgium, pursuit of the enemy's rearward continues."

"The Sambre River has been crossed, and in pursuit of the enemy was reached the Escaut River. British troops fled toward English Channel ports."

(In London it was announced there is no dent in the British lines and that the withdrawal has been made for strategic reasons to keep the British forces in contact with the hard-pressed French army in the east. The British army has abandoned no material.)

"In the Maubeuge region and south of Valenciennes attacks of the French army retreating southward were repulsed."

"The enemy suffered heavy losses, especially in tanks, and is withdrawing westward."

"Southwest of this region our tanks and our motorized troops reached the 1916 battlefield of the Somme on the Cambrai road at Peronne. Our combat units attacked an assault column moving northward and forced it to retire."

"During an armed (air) reconnaissance (May 19) over the North Sea off the Franco-Belgian coast, two enemy destroyers were wiped out, besides a destroyer, a French torpedo boat and three merchant ships aggregating 15,000 tons which were badly damaged."

"The Allies' only naval loss was the beaching of one destroyer."

"The adversary's total losses yesterday were 143 planes, of which 95 were shot down in air battles, 15 by anti-aircraft fire, and the rest destroyed on the ground. Thirty-one German planes were missing."

"The German claim as to Allied air losses is greatly exaggerated. The Royal Air Force has been shooting down three and four Nazi machines for each one of its own lost."

"On the night of May 19-20 British planes carried out attacks with the aid of bombs, without definite plan, on the western Reich. A number of civilians were killed and wounded. The only military objective hit was a camp for war prisoners. Some of the prisoners were killed."

(This refers to R.A.F. raids on Hamburg and Bremen in the course of which gasoline storage tanks were destroyed.)

Unity in War Efforts

'No Party Lines In House'—Hanson

OTTAWA (CP)—Conservative Leader R. B. Hanson, resuming debate in the Commons this afternoon on the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne, assured the government his remarks would be strictly "non-partisan" because of the situation in which Canada finds herself at the moment.

"If there was ever a righteous war in the history of mankind, this one is," Mr. Hanson said. It was essentially a war of "high spiritual values."

Mr. Hanson remarked Hugues Lapointe, Liberal, L'Orignal, Que., had mentioned the necessity of preparing for the postwar period and the Throne Speech had made some mention of such measures.

"The winning of the war, in my opinion, is of much more transcending importance," said Mr. Hanson, "and we can wait until the war has been won before we need consider the problems of peace."

The visit of the King and Queen to Canada a year ago did more to cement Canadian unity than any other event in Canadian history, said Mr. Hanson.

Referring to the results of the federal election he said the meaning of the mandate the people had given the government was clear. It was to pursue "with all the power and all the resources at their disposal the supreme task of winning the war."

The Conservative Party made up in quality what it lacked in quantity," he said. "A party with 1,500,000 votes is neither dead nor dying."

Mr. Hanson recognized the difficulties in introducing unemployment insurance legislation but urged the government to persevere.

SECTION 98
Re-enactment of Section 98 of the Criminal Code was urged by Mr. Hanson.

Section 98, having to do with unlawful assembly, was repealed by the present government after long agitation by certain members of Parliament.

Mr. Hanson said Section 98 might be of considerable value to the government in keeping law and order during the war.

Moves Promised Against 5th Column

OTTAWA (CP)—Justice Minister Lapointe this afternoon told the House of Commons the whole question of administration of regulations governing activities of subversive elements in Canada would be considered by the special committee which is to be set up to consider the Defence of Canada Regulations.

Questioned by Dr. H. A. Bruce, Conservative, Toronto-Parkdale, Mr. Lapointe said he had studied suggestions made by Attorney-General Conant of Ontario regarding subversive elements.

Enemy aliens were in a different class from those who violated existing regulations, Mr. Lapointe said. It might be wise to refuse bail to those taking an appeal from conviction on a subversive activity charge.

Angus MacInnis, C.C.F., Vancouver-East, placed before Mr. Lapointe a message from Vancouver indicating "considerable feeling" there against aliens and enemy sympathizers. Unless adequate measures were taken against subversive activities, the citizens there might organize themselves, he said.

The Minister of Justice said he noted a distinct change in public attitude regarding the Defence of Canada Regulations. Up to a few days ago there had been a widespread attitude that these regulations were too drastic.

"Apparently there has been a change and now the criticism is the other way," Mr. Lapointe said.

The Minister believed efforts already in hand and the committee to be set up would provide answer to the situation Mr. MacInnis had brought to his attention.

40 PLANE FIRMS PLAN U.S. SPEED-UP

WASHINGTON (AP)—A quick step-up of United States warplane production, with the twin goal of rushing Allied orders and expanding tenfold the country's own flying forces, became the immediate spearhead today of the government's defensive drive.

While representatives of more than 40 aviation companies joined army, navy and treasury officials in discussing a 50,000-plane program, other preparedness developments also came to the front:

1. Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, decrying "historical chatter of calamity and invasion," said in a radio speech that "we are in danger... because American people have attempted to interfere with the internal affairs of Europe."

2. The Senate appropriations committee quickly approved the $1,500,000,000 army bill, hoping to send both that measure and the $1,303,980,000 navy bill to the White House by June 1.

3. Senator Walter George, Democrat, Georgia, and Senator Tom Connally, Democrat, Texas, advocated establishing an industrial-labor-military board as the House naval committee took up a bill designed to speed shipbuilding by relaxing labor laws.

The unusual conference of air-plane makers and federal officials was called in response to President Roosevelt's recommendation that production be increased to 50,000 planes a year and that the armed services acquire a total of 50,000 fighting aircraft.

Stop Mosley Meeting

MIDDLETON, Lancashire (CP)—An angry crowd smashed Fascist leader Sir Oswald Mosley's public address system and broke up a political meeting Sunday.

Winnipeg Flier Killed

WINNIPEG (CP)—Flight Corporal Gordon Henry Dixon, reported by the British Air Ministry as missing and believed killed, was the son of Lieut. Colonel and Mrs. Joseph Dixon, formerly of Winnipeg and now residing at Wembley, England.

Flight Corporal Dixon was born in Winnipeg, January 21, 1913, and attended public and high school here. In May, 1935, he left for England to join the Royal Air Force.

U.S. Pacific Coast To Send $50,000,000 Planes to Allies

SANTA MONICA, Cal. (AP)—The Allied purchasing commission has placed orders for $10,000,000 worth of Douglas attack bombers.

This announcement was made by Donald W. Douglas, president of the Douglas Aircraft Company, who said half the planes would be made by the Boeing Aircraft Company of Seattle, under Douglas license.

The bomber is a twin-engine, high-winged, all-metal monoplane powered with Wright 205B engines, and claimed by the manufacturer to be the fastest ship of its kind in the air today.

TO EXTEND PLANT

SEATTLE (AP)—P. G. Johnson, president of the Boeing Aircraft Company, said building of $23,000,000 worth of Douglas bombers by the Boeing Company for the Allied governments would result in a $2,000,000 expansion of the Boeing plant here and a large increase in the number of employees.

The Boeing plants here already employ 6,500 persons. Johnson said the Douglas construction would not interfere with present work on huge four-engine Boeing bombers and clippers and strato-liners for commercial service.

NEW BOMBING PLANE

BALTIMORE (AP)—Glenn L. Martin, president of the Baltimore Airplane Company, said specifications for a new type bombing plane had been completed and that the Anglo-French purchasing commission had agreed to take every one that could be turned out in the next 18 months. Details were not announced.

FIRE DESTROYS BIG WAREHOUSE

GLACE BAY, N.S. (CP)—Fire wiped out the Dominion Coal Company's general machine shop here late Saturday with an estimated loss of between $300,000 and $350,000, and a few hours later police took a man into custody for investigation.

The prisoner, described as a literature salesman who came here recently, was held without charge while authorities probed the most disastrous fire in the history of this "biggest town in Canada."

The fire, which swept with lightning speed through the huge 15-story wooden building built 45 years ago, threw about 260 men out of work. An hour and a half after the outbreak nothing remained but a twisted mass of steel girders and machinery where there had stood a structure 300 by 80 feet.

Entire War Theatre

'Worse Than Verdun' Says French Officer

By TAYLOR HENRY

PARIS (AP)—Fleeing crowds of refugees from Belgium and northeastern France are streaming toward the interior while the French army meets the trip-hammer blows of the invading German shock forces.

I have just returned to Paris from a week's stay along the sector of the front where the fighting is now heaviest.

The fighting has been terrific, like nothing before in history. A French officer who fought in the last war told me:

"There can be no comparison between this battle and the worst ones of the last war. Two hours of this are worse than two days of the battle of Verdun."

ESCAPED BOMBING

As P. J. Philp of the New York Times and I were setting out early in the morning for Paris on bicycles, the only available means of transportation, a German plane dive-bombed behind us.

It loosed five bombs on railroad tracks. We were within 40 yards. We threw ourselves flat against a wall amidst a shower of bricks and glass, and then raced to a shelter to avoid the plane's spraying machine gun bullets as it returned.

Again the planes attacked. They were bigger bombs this time. The force of the explosion knocked me off the bicycle, ripping the back wheel to pieces. A French major who slept in the hotel room next to mine the night before was among those killed.

Screams of the wounded after the bombings were ghastly. One woman with arteries severed in both legs was holding a small baby in her arms. An old man hobbled around trying to stop the flow of blood spurting from the stump of his arm. A child huddled in the corner of the station kept wailing "mama."

REFUGEES ON MARCH

I prevailed on a terror-stricken boy on a bicycle to repair my wheel. Philip and I started out again for Paris.

From every hill unbroken columns of refugees could be seen winding down to the main highway. Nazi planes were flying everywhere singly and in squadrons up to 30. Time and time again we ducked from our bicycles and flopped in the ditches alongside the roads to hide.

Town criers went through villages ringing great bells and warning everyone to be on the move within an hour. Methodically the peasants closed their homes, loaded their belongings on push-carts, in old trucks and in great two-wheeled farm chariots drawn by from four to eight farm horses. What was left they strapped to their backs and with scarcely a look behind started on the same trek that all but the very young had made in 1914.

BRITISH DESTROYER DAMAGED, BEACHED

LONDON (CP)—The destroyer Whitley was damaged by bombs and subsequently beached, the Admiralty announced today. There were four casualties.

The Whitley, a vessel of 1,000 tons, was launched in April, 1918, and was rearmed in 1938-39 as an escort ship.

A ship of the Whitley type normally would carry a crew of around 130. The Whitley was one of a class of 15 ships launched as destroyers of war designed before they were rearmed as escort vessels.

The Whitley was armed with four 4-inch, high angle guns and two multiple machine guns and had a speed of 30 knots.

Troops Smash Cafe

SASKATOON (CP)—A party of approximately 20 soldiers from the exhibition camp broke into the Main cafe here last night and smashed most of the furnishings and glass, causing more than $300 damage. There was no apparent reason for the outbreak.

New Vancouver Dean

MONTREAL (CP)—Appointment of Ven. Archdeacon A. P. Gower-Rees, pastor of St. George's Church here for the past 15 years, as dean of the diocese of New Westminster and rector of Christ Church Cathedral in Vancouver was announced yesterday. He will take over his new duties in September.

GERMANS THOUGHT CANADIANS SUNK

By SAM ROBERTSON

LONDON (CP)—The Nazi propaganda mill has led the people of Germany to believe that Canadian troops have not yet reached the United Kingdom, according to German prisoners of war.

A sergeant-major of the Canadian 1st Division who recounted for the Canadian Press today a talk he had with five men rescued from a destroyed Nazi submarine said they were amazed at the sight of "Canada" shoulder badges on his battle dress.

"They couldn't believe their eyes," the sergeant said, "and I had a difficult time convincing them that I was really Canadian. They had been fed two false reports. At first they were told Canada was not actively engaging in the war. Later they were informed that all 1st Canadian Division troops were torpedoed by U-boats in the Atlantic."

The sergeant chuckled. "I took great pleasure in telling them that Goebbels has been kidding the troops," he said.

2 Fliers Killed

ST. CATHARINES, Ont. (CP)—Lawrence Phelan, 20, and Goldie Staples, 22, were killed yesterday when their two-seater pleasure plane crashed in a Grantham Township orchard during a terrific electrical storm.

For domestic purposes alone, each British household consumes three tons of coal annually.

Killed in Action

LONDON (CP)—Lieut. William Paulet Lucy of the fleet air arm has been killed in action, it was announced here. Ten days ago it was announced he had received the Distinguished Service Order "for daring and resource in the conduct of hazardous and successful operations by the fleet air arm against the enemy, especially on the coast of Norway."

Bishop Cannon Urges U.S. Declare War

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Bishop James Cannon of the Methodist Church made public here yesterday an open letter to State Secretary Cordell Hull urging that he use his "great influence with the President and Congress to declare war against Hitler and his fellow monsters."

Declaring some things were more precious than peace, and that there could be no "permanent peace unless and until justice and righteousness prevail,"

Bishop Cannon asserted defence of the oppressed and of human rights was something both necessary and Christian.

"If the United States would today repeal the cowardly Neutrality Act and would today declare war against Germany because of the restriction of our rights by her barbarous submarine warfare, there would instantly be a great change in the attitude of the nations of the world," he said. "Instead of fear there would be hope, and I believe there would be no menace that the sword-rattling Mussolini would enter the war."

Scientific experiments have reduced the estimated speed of the deerly from 800 miles per hour to a mere 28 miles per hour.

Weygand

UNTIL THE END OF LAST WEEK EXPERT commentators on military matters appeared to be feeling quite satisfied in the belief that when Generalissimo Gamelin thought the time had arrived to attack the Germans the attack would begin. These authorities and the rest of us had little thought that anything was transpiring behind the scenes which presaged the famous military leader's removal and the recall of General Weygand from the Near East to take his place. With the man who was Marshal Foch's chief of staff in the first Great War now in charge of all the Allied armies, however, today's dispatches from London and Paris strike an optimistic note and appear to herald a movement that will at least halt the relentless mechanical drive which has completely changed the whole progress of the conflict since May 10.

We are told that General Weygand at 73 is still possessed of all that alertness of mind and body upon which Marshal Foch relied to such an extraordinary extent when he finally became the supreme chief of the Allied forces early in 1918. Standing only a trifle more than five feet and weighing only 120 pounds, the new leader is described, in a lengthy and exhaustive sketch of the man and his career, by Major George Fielding Elliot, who makes this note:

"He has not forgotten the strategy of Foch, the 'attaque, attaque, attaque' which was his master's constant theme. Nor has he forgotten, certainly, the strategic caution which was the great strength of that other French captain of three centuries ago whom he so greatly admires, Louis XIV's greatest general, Henri de la Tour d'Auvergne Turenne. One might indeed say that a blend of Foch and Turenne would be likely to produce the greatest soldier of history; perhaps it is this blend that Weygand has achieved. There are some curious analogies between Turenne's career and Weygand's. Both were devoted to the profession of arms from boyhood. Both served long apprenticeships under great chiefs before coming to command. Both were soldiers pure and simple, and had occasional political difficulties. Each in his day was the first captain of Europe. Both were suddenly called upon in difficult circumstances. Both had the simple virtues—constancy, honesty, simplicity. Both were loved by their subordinates."

The apparent lack of public commotion, or, at least, the utter absence of panic over the changes which Britain and France have brought about since May 10—a complete change of government in Downing Street and "adjustments" at the Quai d'Orsay and now the most radical change of all—must be puzzling to the people of Germany. But unless the mind of Adolf Hitler is invulnerable to all outside influences, it should even be apparent to him and his Nazi advisers that if ever there was any doubt about the outcome of the conflict, British and French political and military rearrangements have removed it completely. And he may have noted that Major Elliot calls Weygand's appointment the "best news" the Allies have had for some time.

Speed-up

LORD BEAVERBROOK IS LOSING NO time in getting into action as Minister of Aircraft Production. Over the week-end he broadcast an appeal for men experienced in aircraft assembly. The orders for $50,000,000 of planes to the Douglas and Boeing plants on this coast yesterday probably came as a direct result of his speed-up command. It is no secret that more trained pilots are being turned out in Britain and in Canada than there are planes for them to fly. Remedying this deficiency will do more than anything else to counteract Hitler's present blitzkrieg tactics on the western front. It is a pity we had to wait for a change of government in Britain before a vigorous aerial speed-up was ordered.

And What the Bishop Said

LAST YEAR UNITED STATES TOURISTS spent in Europe and the British West Indies something like $200,000,000. Mr. Leo Dolan, chief of the Canadian Travel Bureau, is of the opinion that this country can attract a large proportion of this business to the Dominion during the season which is now about to begin. In his nation-wide chat to the people of Canada over the network of the CBC yesterday this official itemized the benefits that ought to accrue to us as a result of an intensified publicity campaign, aided, of course, by the contribution which every Canadian can make by the exercise of those courtesies which cost the individual nothing but which are appreciated by the visitor to a greater extent than is realized. To the point, moreover, was Mr. Dolan's warning to our people to avoid the discussion of controversial subjects and to shun like the plague those unwarranted and often not seriously intended—jibes at our neighbor's foreign policy or her national outlook. These are matters essentially for the American people exclusively. The fact that we know millions of our neighbors hate the cause of the present war as much as we do, that it is their fervent hope and right will prevail either with or without the use of their forces, should not be regarded as a license to unload our innermost feelings as soon as our friends set foot on Canadian soil. While fully acknowledging the inherent right to say what he likes, within reason, when Lieut.-Colonel the Rt. Rev. G. A. Wells, C.M.G., D.D., Protestant chaplain-in-chief of the foreign tourist trade in Canada, he was surely a little out of his depth. Condemning the special campaign to encourage tourists, Bishop Wells asked, "What nation became great on its tourist traffic? What good will tourists do us? How will we keep out those who would do us harm?" And the Right Rev. gentleman went on to say the nation would be placing itself wide open to the kind of scheming which undermined the resistance in Norway and Denmark and which is so much feared by neutrals in Europe today.

In view of the fact that our friends in the United States have been invited by Prime Minister Mackenzie King to come to Canada this year, through advertisements placed in many well-known American newspapers and weeklies, the somewhat extraordinary dictum of Bishop Wells is a little out of place. From the important economic standpoint, of course, it is sadly lacking in logic. The average Canadian realist will agree with Mr. Dolan that every United States dollar brought to Canada will go to strengthen the home front as well as the battlefield.

This New War

THOSE WHO ARE PRIMARILY RESPONSIBLE for the conduct of the war for the Allies have said many times that this is much more a conflict of machines than one between opposing manpower in the mass. To what has been obvious to all save the narrow-visioned, Mr. Churchill now has added his authoritative view. When he spoke to the peoples of the empire yesterday he placed particular emphasis on the urgent need of more airplanes, more tanks, more guns and more shells. It is no secret, of course, that as these supplies are produced—and at a much greater rate than has been possible hitherto or even in recent weeks—adequate manpower will be available.

A French War Ministry spokesman observed today that the battle still in progress "takes on a character absolutely new in modern warfare," that "there can be no question of a continuous front maintained by these huge mobile forts," and:

"To grasp the character and scope of these operations, one has to divest himself of the conception of a battlefield which stems from the Great War of 1914-1918. That conception has been totally outmoded by the circumstances of modern war in 1940, characterized mainly by the operation of land forces in motion at an average of 30 miles an hour and of huge bombing planes in the air at enormous speeds."

It is the nature of the pressing needs of the Allies which has to a large extent determined, and which will continue to influence, the quality of Canada's contribution to the cause to which she and her people are committed—which they intend to see through to the end. We repeat that this country is playing the part the Allied governments consider she is best fitted to play—primarily, from a relative standpoint, by the constant supply of those materials which her factories are turning out in greater volume from day to day.

It ought to be appreciated by all who are possessed of ordinary understanding that the authorities at Ottawa are in possession of some information which cannot be made public. By the same token, and as the march of events so determines, this nation's effort will be accelerated and further diversified only as it may insure maximum usefulness and effect at the right time. This naturally applies to the provision of manpower as well as to the maintenance of a flow of all-essential supplies.

King George and President Roosevelt collect stamps. Hitler also collects stamps, but the trouble with him is that he also tries to collect the nations that issue them.

Canada's war expenditure during the first six months of this war has been $115,000,000, compared with $50,000,000 spent during the first six months of the last war. Between August 4, 1914, and March 31, 1916, the Dominion expended $230,000,000, whereas in the fiscal year, March 31, 1940, to 1941, the expenditure is at the rate of $500,000,000, not counting $100,000,000 on the air-training plan. Thus, for like periods the comparison stands $230,000,000 in the last war, against $715,000,000 in this war.

THE LONG PULL

From Winnipeg Free Press
This war is no baseball game! And unless the people of this generation, who have become so accustomed to play-by-play descriptions of ball games, hockey games and football contests, recognize this fact their nervous systems are in for an awful frazzling.

As the news flows in of Allied setbacks and defeats, and of victories and offensives, we would be less than human if we could suppress alternate groans and cheers. But it would be the height of folly to place too much importance on either the episodic victories or defeats. This is a total war, the worst the world has ever experienced, but after the Nazi juggernaut has swept through the regions which could not be defended without too great a loss of human life, it will settle down to a long and bitter campaign.

The science of communication has brought the news to us of hourly changes faster than ever before. These changes, while they would decide the fate of baseball games, are mere episodes in this struggle. This war will not be won or lost by any one battle in any one day, week or month. So, when you read the latest dispatches from the front, or listen to radio-bulletins, just keep in mind that this war is no baseball game and you will find the news of victory or defeat easier to take. The truth is that until Hitler is really driven from power, there will be no real victory and no real defeat.

Elmore Philpott

ACTION NOW

BEFORE THESE WORDS can get into print the most crucial stage of the battle of the Meuse will be over. If we fail to hold our world will quickly become a very different place than it has been. If we do hold we will not have won the war—we will just have won a breathing spell.

In either case it seems to me that we in Canada will have to revise our whole war preparation policy. On the advice of the British government, we have been proceeding on the assumption that we will have four or five years to fight this war. But Hitler has already smashed that theory to smithereens. He has set the pace in this war from the beginning. There is no guarantee that he will not continue to do so to the end. Our failure to date has been due to the fact that Hitler has attacked whenever he has chosen to attack, and wherever he has chosen to attack, with an almost unbelievable amount of force. We have to get busy now in a manner that we have not even begun to approach so far. We should begin at once to do all the things now that we thought we were going to be able to do over a period of four or five years.

What that means in plain language is that we must go on a 100 per cent war production basis just as soon as it is humanly possible to get there. What is the sense of pretending that we are on such a basis when in every town and city in the land are able-bodied men and eager able-bodied women who are producing nothing of use in winning this war. We need planes, planes, more planes. We need pilots, more pilots, and still more pilots. We need tanks, tanks and more tanks. This is true if we win the battle now in progress in France. It will be even more pointedly true if we lose it.

LET US QUIT fooling ourselves. It is possible that Britain and France will lose this battle and lose this war. Nobody could be quite so dumb as not to understand that now. And let us realize just what that would mean for us in Canada. It would mean that we and our neighbors to the south were left alone to fight the battle of democracy in its last citadel—the continent of North America. It would mean that we would within a few years at the most, or perhaps within a few months, be forced to fight a defensive war in our own country where the invaders were able to co-operate from two oceans at once, and with an overwhelming amount of modern war equipment which it would be extremely difficult for us to match.

That is what President Roosevelt meant last week when he gave instructions that no new plane factories were to be located on the seaboard—that henceforth all such were to be built between the Rockies and the Alleghenies.

As with the weapons of war so with men. It may be because of some political bargain that conscription is impossible or inadvisable in Canada. That may be all very well in so far as it concerns the compulsory sending of European Canadian citizens. But what we may be facing is the almost immediate defence of our own country from actual physical attack.

It therefore seems to me that we should adopt a universal compulsory military training plan now—not next year, or the year after, but now. So far we have not even had a national registration of manpower. Women, acting on their own behalf, and from the highest of motives, staged a voluntary registration months ago. It is time for us to quit fooling around. We must realize just what we are up against. Otherwise we will go down in our turn just as all the others have already gone down.

AND THEN THE DAFFODILS

V. Sackville-West in the New Statesman and Nation (London)

Here is one of the most charming tiny stories which comes out of the war. A public building in a south coast town ran out of its sand supply for its sandbags; it therefore authorized its willing helpers to obtain sand or soil wherever available, even from the public garden if need be. Sacks were filled and stacked up, and no questions asked. They stood there, sturdily and suddenly protecting the walls and windows throughout the winter. But with the spring came a change. Green shoots began to appear through cracks of the sacking, and now the whole grim barricade blows with yellow daffodils.

AN ARMY OF RATS

From Winnipeg Free Press

An army of field rats is marching from the Queensland border into South Australia. It has advanced 100 miles in three months. The rats move mostly by night and are fat and pudgy from living off an abundance of grass and roots.

CEMS OF THOUGHT—EDUCATION

"Instruction increases inborn worth, and right discipline strengthens the heart."—Horace.

"We understand best that which begins in ourselves and by education brightens into birth."—Mary Baker Eddy.

"Enlighten the people generally and tyranny and oppressions of both mind and body will vanish like evil spirits at the dawn of day."—Thomas Jefferson.

"Real knowledge, in its progress, is the forerunner of liberality and enlightened toleration."—Lord Brougham.

BARBIROLLI IN ACTION

By JACK GRANT

For three years we have heard John Barbirolli lead a symphony. Saturday night in Vancouver, 7,000 people saw him. They saw conduct a regenerated Vancouver symphony and a choir of 700 schoolchildren in works of Elgar, Beethoven, Franck, Grailger, Boccherini and Wagner.

Barbirolli is a short man in stature, neatly proportioned. He mounts the podium with quick, energetic steps, bows once, lifts a fragile baton and proceeds at once to conduct with the utmost grace and economy of gesture.

Nevertheless, conducting is serious, exhausting work for Barbirolli. He never smiles, he never relaxes. He addresses himself completely to each section of the orchestra in turn, as it makes its entrance. When the violins emphasize with down bows (as in their third movement of the Beethoven Fifth Symphony), he leans far over, sawing the air with them, almost attacking the concertmaster.

Then he feints back, draws his feet neatly to attention and always gently, giving a tip-toe rhythm to the woodwinds. In certain passages he does not move at all. The orchestra seems to carry on by itself, while Barbirolli watches with a serious, almost glum, face.

Suddenly, at a full climax, as in the last declamation of the march theme (the "Meister-singer" overture) he becomes violent, both arms stretched out, calling for more volume. He drives and drives; his hair falls mop-like over his face, his shirt sleeves push down.

The work completed, he again comes to attention, bows low on three sides, grips the hand of the concertmaster affectionately. He returns for three, four, five calls, wiping his face, puffing through a half-open mouth. He thanks the audience with a flicker of a smile, a friendly wave of the handkerchief, and rushes out between the applauding men and cheering schoolchildren.

NEW CHIEF JUSTICE

From Vancouver Daily Province

Mr. Justice M. A. Macdonald of the British Columbia Court of Appeal has been promoted to be chief justice of the court in succession to Hon. Archer Martin. The position was his both by right of ability and eminence in the legal profession. So there will be general approval of the appointment.

In his third of a century in British Columbia, half of which has been spent on the bench, the new chief justice has built up an enviable reputation for learning, sound judgment and close attention to detail. His report on the oil industry of the province is a monument of industry. He has always been jealous of the dignity of the bench. He has both the ability and the temperament to make a first-class chief justice.

The promotion of Mr. Justice Macdonald leaves a vacancy in the line of puisne judges of the Appeal Court. One of these days that vacancy will have to be filled. It is to be hoped it will be filled with emphasis upon the legal attainments and character of the appointee rather than upon his party services. If the government has any doubt as to whom it should appoint, the benchers and the Law Society could give it some valuable information.

"TEN BEFORE BREAKFAST"

From Cowichan Leader

The most of Holland has been swallowed up by the Hun. We must remember, however, that the first major combat of the war has only just begun. The Allied forces are as yet not even fully engaged. Germany is throwing in a great portion of her strength, while Britain and France have still great reserves, backed by resources and courage. It were far better for us to think of the R.A.F. slogan passed on to us yesterday: "Ten before breakfast."

DEEP-SEA DIVERS

From Pathfinder

The first undersea diving suit, a crude leather case for the body, was invented by an Englishman in 1715. Not until 1910, however, did deep-sea diving become a standard part of all up-to-date naval work. Today divers can operate safely at depths of about 500 feet.

CANADA'S ITALIANS AND WAR

To the Editor:—Dr. Alexander Canon, eminent English professor, writes in his "Powers That Be": "Allowing thoughts of hatred and suspicion to darken the mind it means that the very act of holding such thoughts is like harboring and breeding disease germs. These evil, resentful and fearful thoughts are boiling up, slowly, they are songs that breed hate, and these songs are in their effect akin to the mantras which the Yogis chant to attune themselves to the universal vibration of power."

As I write these words the newspapers are full of an alleged plan by Italy to enter World War No. 2 on Germany's side. Judging from the true internal situation, and as I personally feel about it, Italy, although the possessor of a well oiled and powerful mechanized army, together with a very substantial modern navy with some 130 submarines, and an air armada second to none, will follow America's policy in the last war: "Cash in on all fronts."

DR. C. G. di CASTRI, former Lieut.-Col. R.I.A. 1020 Pandora Avenue.
The following letter from the Canadian Minister of National Defence should clarify the fact that with the exception of a few unworthy, many Italian-Canadians are 100 per cent for the Allies' cause, as borne out by their offer for service as conveyed under my name to the Dominion government, to which this reply has been received:

Prince C. G. di Castri, M.D. Victoria, B.C.
Dear Prince di Castri:
I am acknowledging receipt of your letter of recent date in which you request consent and permission to be allowed the opportunity of organizing an Italian battalion in Canada from British-Italian residents who are anxious to serve overseas. I wish to express at once my appreciation of the splendid motives behind this generous offer, but would say that for the present, at least, it is not considered that our overseas forces will be made up of any but existing Canadian formations. This is not necessarily a refusal, but rather an expression of the government's policy of confining mobilization to existing nonpermanent active militia units.

(Signed)
CHARLES G. POWER,
Acting Minister of National Defence.

Blitzkrieg Speeds Up Recruiting

The blitzkrieg in Europe has had a stimulating effect on enlistments in the city, according to recruiting officers at the regimental depot in the Armouries.

"We have had a definite spurt," said an officer in charge this morning. "It has been most marked in the last few days since Hitler overran the Low Countries and went into France."

The men applying are being fitted into the different infantry and artillery units who have bases in this area or have gone overseas.

The army still wants clerks and cooks. Men up to 45 years of age will be taken on for the clerical posts. They should know typing, and shorthand is an added qualification, but high speed is not an essential. Up to 25 words a minute typing and from 40 to 60 words shorthand is the requirement.

Training of cooks has been going on for some time among men already enlisted, but there is still a need for men who have had some experience in this line.

PATRICIA BAY HUT

The Y.M.C.A. has been given the right to erect a recreation hut for the men at Patricia Bay airport, the Canadian Legion has been informed.

NEW WAR SONG

Mrs. A. G. Dobbie and Mrs. R. S. Ross of Duncan have collaborated in writing a new war song which they hope will take its place with the favorites.

It is called "We'll Say Goodbye and Leave You," and has been played over a Vancouver radio station and at one or two dances.

The words are as follows: We're going to join the navy And go on may trips, Until the foe is vanquished And he scuttles all his ships. So, let us all be happy, Let everybody sing: We're in the navy Of His Majesty the King.

Chorus— We've left our wives and our sweethearts, Left them our homes to mind. We've a job to do, And very few are going to stay behind.

We'll say goodbye and leave you, We're going we don't know where. We'll be back and then we'll see you When we've finished over there.

We're in the fight for honor, For freedom and the right, Until we've proved the power That lies in Britain's might. So, let us lift our voices, Let everybody sing: For we're the soldiers Of His Majesty the King.

Douglas Street merchants who have filed a petition of 70 names in protest against parallel parking along Douglas Street, will attend the City Council meeting tomorrow to present their views to the Mayor and aldermen.

The meeting next week has been put over a day from the usual Monday afternoon session and the time will be set later by the Mayor.

A comparatively light agenda awaits consideration of the council, including a few routine committee reports. This morning an invitation was received for civic representatives to attend the Port Townsend rhododendron festival next Friday and Saturday.

Health Literature In Great Demand

OTTAWA — Ten per cent increase in distribution of the maternal and child health publications of the Canadian Welfare Council in the past year is shown in the administration report presented by the executive director, Miss Charlotte Whitton, C.B.E., M.A., D.C.L., at the 20th annual meeting of the council which opened in Toronto today.

The division on maternal and child health distributed 372,855 sets and partial sets of literature, an increase of 34,000, or 10 per cent over the distribution in 1938-39. Of these, more than 350,000 were in response to requests from provincial or local health departments, social agencies, etc., while 17,000 went to more than 5,000 individual applicants.

The council's division on maternal and child health has completed its series of parental letters, these now ranging from the prenatal series to those for the intermediate age and the adolescent years.

Comprehensive surveys of community welfare needs and resources were carried out by the council in four cities in widely separated parts of Canada, on request, and in addition two community studies were made by its division of French-speaking services. The director reports that she has visited every province, except Prince Edward Island, for field studies and conferences, since last August, some of them more than once, and conferred in all with provincial and local welfare officials. Miss Whitton, as a special observer, also attended the White House Conference on children in a democracy, in January.

Membership in the Canadian Welfare Council now stands at 24 national, 25 provincial and 130 local agencies; 498 individual members and 562 donor members. The special class of sustaining members includes 12 organizations. Donations are shown

Claim Price of Meat, Butter Too High

At the meeting of the Victoria Housewives' League on Friday, at 301 Union Building, a large attendance discussed the question of rising food prices. Miss D. Ashdown, convener of the research committee, read correspondence with the Food Control Board at Ottawa and reported that her committee protested against the present high price of butter in view of the large supplies available. Members also considered the price of meat was unreasonable. Increases in the price of fish canned in B.C. was also considered and research is being undertaken on this matter.

In reply to a query in the correspondence as to the nature of the war work of the Housewives' League, it was pointed out that work protecting the interests of the consumers of B.C. and protesting against undue rises in prices was very essential at this time and this work was appreciated by the authorities as supporting their efforts to maintain a reasonable standard of living for the people of Canada.

Explore Your Own Island

Economical Holiday Spot for All

The 24th of May will bring the first long weekend of summer. The extra holiday offers everyone a chance to get away from the city, from war bulletins and radio alarms, and to enjoy for a few hours at least, the peace and beauty of Vancouver Island's countryside.

Not for many years has our island looked so beautiful. There is a luxuriant growth and an early flowering everywhere. The starlike flowers of the dogwood trees spangle the woods and hills.

Artillerymen at Reunion Ask End Of 'Fifth Column' Activities

Over 100 members of the 15th Brigade, Canadian Field Artillery, gathered in Spencer's dining-room on Saturday night to celebrate the 24th anniversary of their departure for overseas service, and expressed much concern over the activities of the "fifth column" in Canada.

After a lengthy debate, which included discussion of the extent of Canada's war effort in the second world war, the following resolution, moved by J. B. Clearhue, K.C., and seconded by Gordon Cameron, was unanimously passed and will be forwarded to Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King:

"We express ourselves in favor of Canada bending every effort towards the most energetic prosecution of the war, and offer ourselves for such service as Canada may require, especially towards the elimination of any fifth column activities."

H. E. Hunnings and Harvey Bamford led the discussion, with Gavin Mout of Salt Spring Island stating that some aliens had a free hand on the Gulf Islands. All the reverses suffered by the Allies in the present war had been the result of "fifth column" activities, he said.

Alderman Archie Wills, officer commanding the organization, presided, and with him at the head table were five men who are again on active service. They are: Lieut.-Col. Vincent McKenna, M.C., officer commanding the Fifth Brigade, Royal Canadian Artillery, who served in the last war as a lieutenant; Major George Paulin, Major Robert Travis, Capt. "Tommy" Ross and Gunner George Lomas.

Col. McKenna reviewed the changes that had taken place in the artillery since the first Great War. Instead of using eighteen-pounders and 4.5 howitzers the field artillery now had a new 25-pounder. All weapons were drawn by tractors, and the only animal in a brigade today was the colonel's dog, he said. Grooming, the bugbear of most artillerymen's life in the last war, was unknown in the field artillery today.

Major Paulin paid a tribute to the type of men who formed the old 15th Brigade, and said that if he was associated with an overseas unit in this war he would wish to have men of their type with him.

COMRADES REMEMBERED
A number of letters and telegrams were read from members of the brigade, who were unable to attend. Among them was one from the president, E. H. "Ted" King, who has been suffering from war wounds for some time and was unable to attend.

Tribute was also paid to the memory of Capt. T. D. J. Ringwood, O.C., 60th Battery, who was killed on August 10, 1918, two days after the great drive started at Amiens, and whose mother, Mrs. C. M. Castle, lives at Outlook Lodge, East Saanich Road. Archie Gibbs spoke of some of his outstanding qualities, and said that his fearlessness caused him to take chances where others might have hesitated.

For the reunion artillerymen came here from many parts. Dr. "Snowy" Smethurst, who now practices in Walla Walla, Wash., sat with his former school friend who drove a team of horses behind him throughout the brigade's service in France. Percy E. Wills. Both were attending their first reunion. Inspector Robert Owen of the provincial police, spoke with enthusiasm of the work of Mr. Wills on Vancouver Island's rugged west coast as a missionary of the Shanty-

Quake Takes 8 Lives

EL CENTRO, Calif. (AP)—Occasional rumbles still roused the Imperial Valley late last night in the wake of Saturday night's earthquake which took eight lives, injured scores of persons and did property damage estimated at $2,500,000.

More than 20 shocks were recorded. They diminished in severity and frequency throughout the day.

This city and other stricken communities in the valley, meanwhile, faced the possibility of martial law.

Director of Public Health Walter M. Dickie ordered supplies of typhoid vaccine sent here as a precautionary measure. Public health officers today were testing the dwindling water supplies in an effort to avert an epidemic. Pure water was sent here in full road tank cars.

RECORDED HERE

All three seismographs of the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory here recorded the intense shocks of the earthquake which occurred in the Imperial Valley, California, on Saturday evening. The records indicate that the quake lasted from 8:40 Saturday evening until 12:20 Sunday morning. The origin was located from the records by Dr. K. O. Wright 1275 miles from Victoria. The time epicentre was 8:36 P.M.T. The preliminary waves required four and a half minutes to reach Victoria, arriving at 8:41 in severe shocks and lasted from 8:44 to 9, while shocks of moderate intensity occurred between 9 and 10 in the evening. Secondary shocks were noted during the following two hours.

Another earthquake occurred on the same records at 7:27 Sunday morning, which probably originated in the same region.

These records showed the strongest earth movements recorded by the seismographs since their installation in August, 1939. They have a considerably greater amplitude than the records of the destructive Turkish earthquake of December, 1939, as might be expected from the greater distance from the Turkish epicentre.

The Weichert seismograph, which records vertical components of the wave, showed a strong record very clearly, indicating the integrity of the shocks of the origin. This instrument is used chiefly to record local earthquakes and the vertical components of the usual distance shocks are not originally recorded.

$300 FINES FOR SUPPLYING LIQUOR

City police spent a busy Saturday rounding up drunks, persons supplying Indians with liquor and Indians with liquor in their possession. Several heavy penalties were handed out by Magistrate Henry C. Hall in City Police Court this morning as a result.

Edwin P. Craft and Ernest Kruse, charged with supplying Indians with liquor, to wit, loganberry wine, contrary to the Indian Act, were each fined $300 or, in default, two months at hard labor.

Two Indians who pleaded guilty to a charge of unlawfully being in possession of an intoxicant, were each fined $25 and $250 costs, or, in default, one month. A similar charge read against another was reduced to an intoxication charge. He asked the magistrate for leniency, saying that he wished to leave on a fishing expedition soon. He was fined $10, or, in default, two days.

Three old offenders of being drunk in a public place were sentenced to 20 days at hard labor each by Magistrate Hall. A first offender was fined $25, or, in default, five days.

Six motorists paid $2.50 for parking over the hour, two the same for parking more than 12 inches from the curb, one a similar amount for night parking and another $5 for parking near a fire hydrant.

Finds Stranger Asleep Beside Her

A woman living in a local hotel was given a shock when she woke up early Sunday morning and found a strange man beside her on her bed, according to a city police report.

She immediately telephoned the police. Constables L. Greenwood and H. Mercer found a lodger, while drunk, walked into the woman's room while she was asleep and went to sleep on the bed beside her. He left when the officers requested him to do so.

Chamber of Commerce

Motion Condemns Mayor's Action

Directors of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce at a luncheon meeting today, after hearing the report of their president and other members who attended last Monday's meeting of the City Council to present the chamber's stand on the proposed new system of transportation, unanimously endorsed a resolution, to be forwarded to the council, expressing profound regret over the discourtesy shown Duncan MacBride, chairman, by Mayor Andrew McGavin, and the hope that occurrences of that nature would not happen again.

"I don't think I have seen any one—not even a rowdy—treated with more disrespect than our chairman. From the treatment he received from the Mayor you would think he was just a plain trouble-maker trying to create a disturbance," said C. J. McDowell in seconding the motion presented by Walter Luney.

"We were invited to express our views at the meeting—not to be insulted," Mr. Luney, chairman of the chamber's transportation committee, said in moving the resolution.

Mr. MacBride told the meeting he and a delegation representing the chamber attended the council meeting and he spoke for the city on the transportation system sent to the council earlier in letter form.

AGAINST WARTIME CHANGE

"I don't want to say anything as far as the discourtesy meted out to me as an individual is concerned, but I do want to strongly protest it as president of the Chamber of Commerce," said McDowell, who attempted to say, which is that this chamber is 25 years behind the times and is not opposed to a new system of transportation for Victoria. We would welcome it and offer to study it to help the city have a modern system—for Greater Victoria," Mr. MacBride said, "but we are strongly opposed to making the change during wartime."

Mr. MacBride went on to say that only yesterday the seriousness of the war situation prompted the Prime Minister of Great Britain to declare that the full effort of the British Empire, every country and every individual in the commonwealth, were needed to successfully prosecute the war.

Unity of effort and unity of sacrifice was needed, the chairman said. "Everything should be made subservient to the end of winning the war."

"We are not asking the public of this city to make any great sacrifice in having to ride in the street cars a little longer."

NEEDED FOR WAR EFFORT

The manpower, materials and factory that would be put into operation to turn out buses were needed at this time for the war effort, he said. Men, raw materials and factories should all be harnessed to the war effort, as in England.

He said the letting of such a big commercial contract now would rob the war effort of material and manpower.

The chamber's recommendation did not get the consideration it deserved from the council, Mr. MacBride said in closing.

Mr. Luney suggested the chamber take the matter to the public for support and he hinted that he had a feeling that no matter what the public thought the council appeared to be prepared to push the transportation matter through at the last meeting. Mr. Luney's committee will continue to work on the matter.

Ex-Service Men Discuss Protest

Representatives of all ex-service organizations in the city will attend a meeting tonight in the Britannia Branch Canadian Legion, to discuss the proposed protest on the war effort next Sunday.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE, with Major Hoople

OUT OUR WAY—

Sumatra Is One of the World's 'Pepper Pots'

The Dutch East Indies came into the news last month when Japan gave out a warning. The Japanese hinted that they might try to take over the islands if Germany made an attack on Holland.

In a Sumatra village.

Holland is a small country, but she has a big empire. The Dutch East Indies contain most of the land in the empire, also most of the people.

Maps of southern Asia usually show the Dutch East Indies off the coast. Holland owns Sumatra and Java, and a great deal of the land in Borneo and New Guinea.

Sumatra has about the same number of people as Holland, but it is extremely long. If we could lay it down on this continent, it would reach from Montreal to St. Louis, or from Lake Erie to central Florida.

Much of Sumatra is covered with forests. Trees grow thickly on hills and mountains. Ironwood, sandalwood, ebony and many other kinds of trees are spread over the island.

There are flowers, too, and among them the giant Rafflesia. The Rafflesia has a blossom which often measures two or three feet across.

In and about the rivers are lizards, turtles and crocodiles. The forests seem filled with wild animals, including fox-nosed monkeys and orang-utans.

Elephants, tigers, rhinos, wild oxen, deer, wild pigs, wild dogs and bears are among the other animals. Sumatra has a two-horned rhinoceros, while the nearby island of Java has a rhino with only a single horn.

There are birds of many kinds in Sumatra. These include parrots, hornbills and fire-backed pheasants. Among the insects are butterflies and moths of great size and beauty.

Only about 20,000 white persons live in Sumatra. They are mainly Dutch merchants, farmers and officials.

The great mass of the people are of Malay stock and are related to the Filipinos.

Sumatra is one of the world's "pepper pots." The pepper is obtained from tall bushes which sometimes grow to a height of 20 or 30 feet. The berries change from green to red to yellow. Then they are picked and laid out to dry. After drying, they turn black and supply black pepper which is exported to scores of foreign countries.

HOROSCOPE

Tuesday, May 21

Good aspects and adverse influences contend today. There may be much unrest and anxiety under this configuration. Disturbing news from both Asia and Europe is predicted.

This should be a fairly favorable sway for domestic interests. The stars encourage initiative in feminine tasks and inspire service, even sacrifice, for loved ones, who are absent in the service of their country.

Hazards on the seas will increase for neutral nations.

There is a sign read as ominous trouble for the Pacific Coast. Japan is to enter into pacts of serious aspect for the United States. Internal troubles in both Russia and Germany are forecast. Surprising changes and developments may be expected during the summer.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of exacting events. It is well to avoid changes and to make the most of existing conditions. Women should cultivate poise and patience.

ST. MARY'S TROOP

The weekly meeting of St. Mary's Troop Friday evening was attended by 35 scouts and leaders and was opened by Duty Patrol Leader Johnny Jones. Following roll call and inspection, work on the display on June 8 commenced. George Cridge, Gerry McKethnie, and Ken Travis were given their one-year service stars and Dave Gornall was given his knotted and photographer badges. Next week's meeting will be on Thursday evening. Scouts going to the May 23 service will meet in uniform in front of the Crystal Garden at 9.30. On May 26 the annual troop church parade will be held.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

By William Ferguson

ANSWER: Yes. The trade mark is placed so that it is on a plane with the grain of the wood, and the ball should be struck with the trade mark held up.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I am a working wife. My husband has to wait for me to get home at night to cook his supper. I am cross and tired and hurriedly cook something—anything to call a meal. We have a four-year-old boy whom my mother has to take care of for us during the day. Our case is the case of many others. My husband lost his job when the business was in folded up in the depression. For two years he has been kicked around, here, there and everywhere, taking any kind of a job he could get, but averaging only about three months a year.

He has now got a position that has lasted six months. He makes $16 a week and I make $15. Between the two wages we get along, but if I were to stop working how could a family of three live comfortably and have nourishing food that would be required, especially for a child, on what my husband earns? Let the people who are getting laws passed to bar married women from working outside of the home answer that. My dream of heaven is looking forward to the day when I can stay at home and be the wife and mother I should.

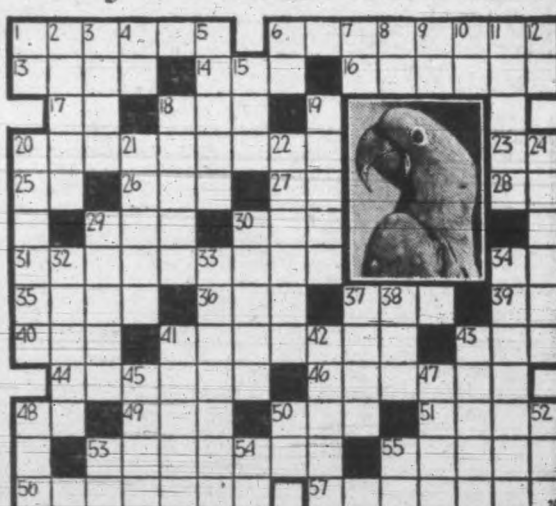

ANSWER: I commend this woman's letter to all of those who assume that the married woman who forsakes her husband and children and home to go into business does so solely in order to get money to enable her to buy French finery and go to night clubs and indulge in extravagances that she couldn't on her husband's ample but modest salary.

If there are such women, they are few and far between. And in 99 cases out of 100, when a woman adds the burden of a job to her work as a housekeeper it is because she is driven to it by dire necessity.

Her husband's salary doesn't cover their needs, or there is an old mother or a sick sister or orphan children dependent upon her. And she does the added work that they may not suffer.

DOROTHY DIX.

W. PETRIE ACCEPTS HARVARD OFFER

The many friends of William Petrie, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. James Petrie, 77 Howe Street, will be pleased to learn of his appointment to an assistantship at the Harvard College Observatory for the coming academic year.

Mr. Petrie is a native son of Victoria, having received his early education in Victoria city and high schools and his first two years of university training at Victoria College. After attending college he proceeded to the University of British Columbia and took the Bachelor of Arts degree this year, with first-class honors in mathematics and physics. During his second year at Victoria College he was awarded the annual scholarship given by the local Kiwanis Club.

With the intention of proceeding to an advanced degree, Mr. Petrie will study astronomy at Harvard, a famous centre of astronomical research. In addition to his university training he has served as seasonal assistant at the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory on Little Saanich Mountain, and as a result of his studies there, he has published a scientific paper on certain spectroscopic features of an interesting star on the constellation of Hercules.

Mr. Petrie will have an excellent opportunity for advancement in astronomy at Harvard, as this institution is one of the best of its kind in America, and maintains an efficient and learned staff of astrophysicists.

JUBILEE HOSPITAL

The Jubilee Hospital averaged 278 patients a day during April. It was reported at the regular meeting of the board of directors held Friday evening with Edwin Tomlin, president, in the chair. This number was slightly higher than the average for the same month of last year.

The Junior Women's Auxiliary of the hospital was extended a vote of thanks for donations of furnishings for the new wing. The auxiliary had agreed to furnish the infant's room, the milk room, for the preparation of formulae, and a four-bed ward.

It was decided to hold the annual meeting of donors and subscribers June 21.

'GULLIVER' ON OAK BAY SCREEN

"Gulliver's Travels," the first full-length animated cartoon to reach the screen since Walt Disney's "Snow White" of two seasons ago and the first ever to appear under Paramount's banner, is showing today at the Oak Bay Theatre. Conceived, drawn and produced in technicolor by Max Fleischer, "Gulliver's Travels" tells the immortal story Jonathan Swift penned 200 years ago and which has been a classic ever since. Functuating the story are these new songs, "All's Well," "We're Altogether Now," "Faithful Forever," "Bluebirds in the Moonlight," "I Hear a Dream" and "It's a Hap-Happy Day."

'SIDEWALKS OF LONDON' AT ATLAS

A modern tale for Vivien Leigh, the beautiful, green-eyed Scarlett O'Hara of "Gone With the Wind," a part that calls upon Charles Laughton to sing and dance as well as act, and a dramatic story of London backstage life from the pen of Clemence Dane — these are just a few of the treats extraordinary offered moviegoers by Paramount in the new drama, "Sidewalks of London," which is showing today at the Atlas Theatre.

Supporting Laughton and Miss Leigh are Rex Harrison, Larry Adler and Tyrone Guthrie.

'THE RAINS CAME' FEATURED AT RIO

The power of one of today's great novels finds its full scope on the screen in Darryl F. Zanuck's production of "The Rains Came," a sensational success best-seller by Louis Bromfield, which opens today at the Rio Theatre, with Myrna Loy, Tyrone Power and George Brent sharing stellar honors.

These strangely-assorted humans, cut off from the world in the mythical city of Rancipur, India, with all restraint swept away, as the forces of nature made life a fading hope and love a desperate longing, are brought vividly to life.

'SKEETER' FLEET IN PLAZA FILM

The first joint appearance in a film of Joan Crawford and Gary Cooper at the Plaza Theatre in "Today We Live" is a happy event for moviegoers. For here is a picture which combines romance of a stirring order with a clean-cut, forceful story of the war with the emphasis laid on the part played by the commanders of the dangerous British two-man torpedo boats, known as the "skeeter fleet."

Miss Crawford is ably seconded by Cooper, the scenes, between Produced-directed by Herbert romance.

Originally, pies were made in old England as a means of serving meat, and not as a dessert. The fruit pie originated in America.

A tropical toad, Phyllomedusa bicolor, lays its eggs on a leaf just before a rain so they will be carried to some pond to be hatched.

MUSICAL 'IRENE' CAPITOL SHOW

A comedy of errors contrived by Dan Cupid by stily juggling four hearts, is the romantic basis of RKO-Radio's gay and tuneful offering, "Irene," co-starring Anna Neagle and Ray Milland, now at the Capitol Theatre.

The lovely British star is cast as a little Irish shop girl who becomes a dress model, and then, almost overnight emerges as the toast of New York society because of the gorgeous gowns she wears in public as a publicity stunt.

Produced and directed by H. Wilcox, "Irene" is the screen version of the famous musical comedy hit, and many of the original melodies such as "Alice Blue Gown" and "Castle of Dreams" are included, along with new music.

Roland Young, May Robson, Billie Burke, Arthur Treacher, Isabel Jewell and Doris Nolan share acting honors.

Screen Version Of 'Abe Lincoln' Coming

Two feminine romantic leads appear opposite Raymond Massey, brilliant stage and screen actor top-featured in the screen version of "Abe Lincoln in Illinois," Robert E. Sherwood's Pulitzer prize play, coming to the Dominion Theatre tomorrow.

Mary Howard, popular young film actress, is seen as Anne Rutledge, Lincoln's ill-fated first love, while Ruth Gordon, noted stage actress, plays Mary Todd, lovely socialite who became his wife and was in a great measure responsible for his becoming president.

'ETERNALLY YOURS' ON CADET BILL

For the mystic creation of Loretta Young, who is co-starred with David Niven in Walter Wanger's new comedy romance, "Eternally Yours," which is slated for its gala opening at the Cadet Theatre today, through United Artists release, there was constructed at the studios a huge transparent chemist's retort more than five feet high. Within this huge glass globe, Niven as a master magician conjured Miss Young from weird chemicals. During lighting and technical arrangements, Miss Young's stand-in occupied the retort which fumed and sputtered with apparently boiling colored chemicals.
